Alcan Cable to close by mid-August

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

More than a hundred people found out Tuesday that their jobs would cease to exist within two months at Alcan Cable in Bay St. Louis.

Alcan Inc. announced its decision to close the facility by Aug. 15 because it will "consolidate its cable production facilities to improve the performance of its cable business."

"This decision is difficult, but has been made necessary by the prolonged poor market conditions and over-capacity in the cable market," said Ian Hewett, president of Alcan Cable, in a press release. "Moving forward, Alcan will focus production at its four remaining cable facilities and continue to provide high quality cable products and service to our customers."

The loss of Alcan Co. is a big blow to the city of Bay St. Louis. Aside from the loss of some 117 jobs in the city, officials say the city treasury will take a hit

In addition, a major redevelopment challenge lies ahead as the city loses its only major Workers continue the construction at the Waveland Super Wal-Mart site just off Hwy. 90. The new store is now expected to be complete and open for business by early September.

Waveland Wal-Mart could be open as early as September

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER

After years of waiting, and troubles with adjoining property owners, wetlands mitigation and a change of entrances it looks like the Super Walmart in Waveland is finally approaching opening day. The store is slated to open its doors sometime in early September.

A new road which will serve as the main entrance to the new store has a completion deadline of July 6, said Bob Echer of Compton Engineering on Tuesday. The project looks to be on or ahead of schedule, he said, as does the scheduled installation of a new traffic signal at that entrance. The traffic signal has a completion deadline of August 20, Echer said, but contractors may have the signal installed by early August.

The new entrance, which will be off Hwy. 90 is a second choice for a main entrance, but the back entrance, which would have opened out to Hwy. 603, had to be abandoned because of a disagreement with an adjoining property owner, who said her property would be flooded by runoff from the road. A court case could have held up the project for years and resulted in Waveland losing the store altogether.

But the new entrance off Hwy. 90 will be state of the art, said Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo. The road into the store will have Carleen Moran on Monday pled guilty in Hancock Circuit Court to charges that she embezzled around $80,000 during her employment as executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Moran told Circuit Judge Robert Walker Monday that each time she took extra money from the chamber, she considered the act an "advance" on her salary, which she fully intended to pay back later.

She said that she had needed the extra funds because she had been going through a rough divorce at the time.

Event offers everything from jewelry to pottery to crawfish pie

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The city of Pass Christian will host its third Chef's Market on June 6 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The intersection of Market Street and Scenic Drive will transform into a market place where vendors sell everything from hot tamales to pottery.

This event, sponsored by the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce, has free admission and is open to the public.

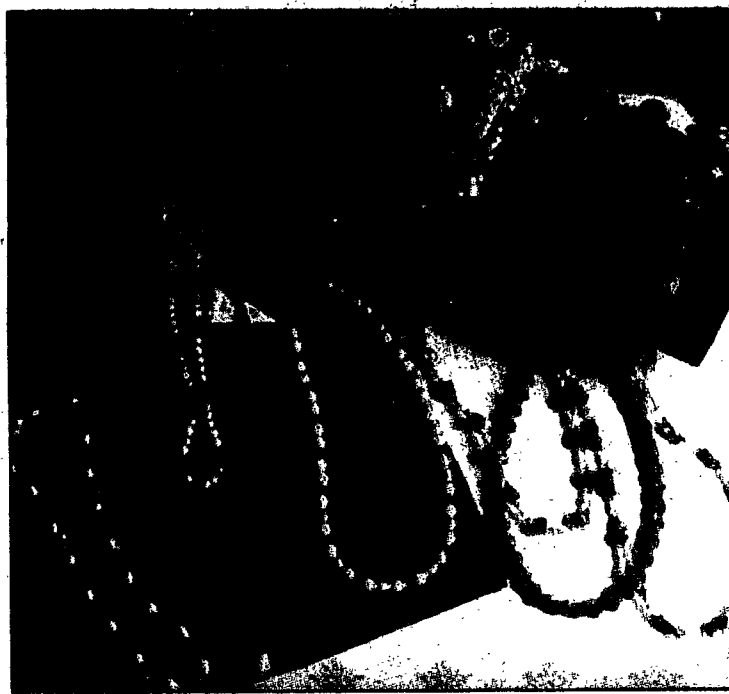

This hub for shopping, eating and entertainment will offer artists, craftsmen and chefs showing off their talents while local musicians perform for the crowd.

Peterman's Pottery

Kevin Peterman will display his pottery at Chef's Market this Friday.

"My ceramic work has several influences from classical oriental techniques to modern southwest American techniques," he said. "Beyond these influences, I try to define form and fire to create a piece with a unique time and place."

Peterman said the "symmetry and three-dimensional qualities of each piece is redefined by texture, pressure and the additional of surface marks. Recording these spontaneous, often subtle, marks on wet clay communicate a sense of antiquity."

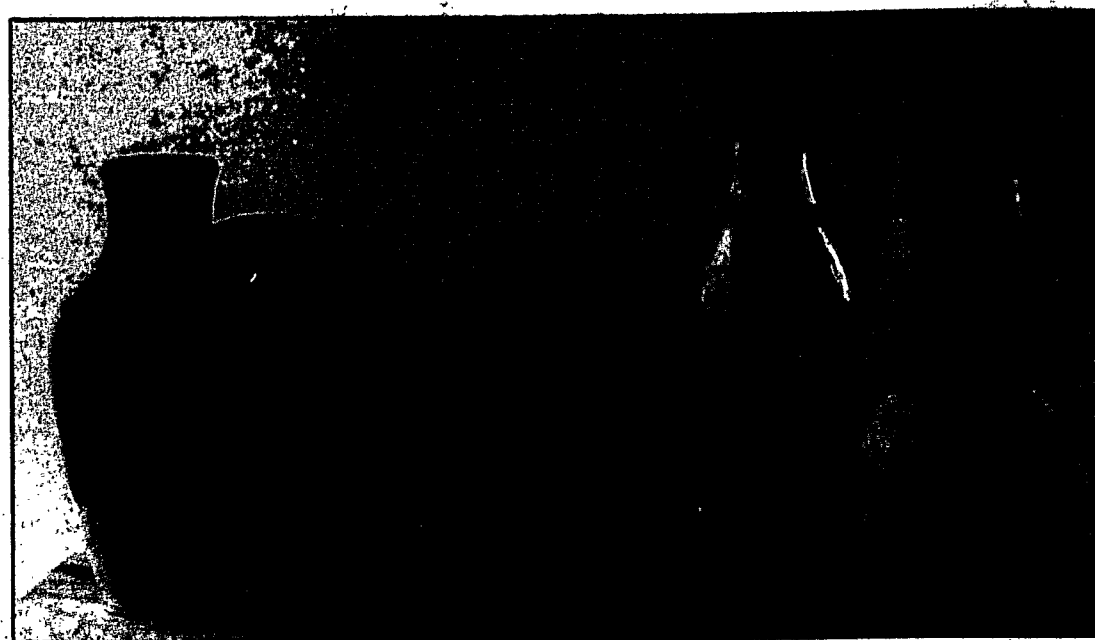

"I always search for a greater understanding of fire and form with their ability to transform something ordinary into something very special," he said.

The 33-year-old Gulfport resident currently teaches art at Bayou View Middle School.

His work can be purchased through Peterman Pottery by calling (228) 539-2555 and through local showings such as the Chef's Market and Street Fair in Pass Christian.

This New Orleans native began making jewelry two years ago after wandering into Blue Water Beads when it was still located in Bay St. Louis.

After one year of making jewelry, she began teaching classes about the craft. She continues to teach once a week at Blue Water Beads, now located in Gulfport.

Flare said she was always a "crafty" person and took several art classes in college.

"I was always interested in painting and design," she said.

She describes her style as eclectic.

"I like to do things that are different from what others are doing," she said.

Flare's jewelry, which ranges in price from $25 to $50, can be found at Chef's Market and Antiques and Interiors in Pass Christian.

Fund-raiser set June 20 in BSL

The first annual "Golf With A Purpose" fund-raising tournament will be Friday, June 20 at The Bridges golf course at Casino Magic.

An 8 a.m. shotgun start is planned, according to organizer Linda Tucker of Bay St. Louis. Tucker, longtime women's basketball coach at Rice University, anticipates a field of some 50 experienced golfers from the Gulf Coast and surrounding region.

The Arnold Palmer-designed course is a favorite among local golfers, and each golf cart is equipped with a GPS identification system for tracking the course.

Prizes will be awarded for first and second places, closest to the pin and longest drive. Fee is $65 per golfer with includes cart rental, green fees and an event T-shirt. For additional information, call Tucker at (228) 467-7298 or e-mail Ltuckerbsl@aol.com.

The Hancock Medical Center Foundation has a restricted fund to defray the cost of screening and diagnostic mammography for qualifying women who are uninsured do not qualify for Medicare or Medicaid.

Proceeds from this golf tournament will replenish the fund for the remainder of the 2003 through summer 2004, according to Tucker. Those who wish to donate to the fund (but don't golf) may do so by calling the Hancock Medical Center Development Office at (228) 467-8790.

Bay Council approves ordinance 'forcing' hookups to gas system

BY MARY G. SEILEY

An ordinance forcing residential and commercial hookups to Bay St. Louis' gas system was approved Tuesday.

City Council also took another step towards issuing up to $2 million in general obligation bonds for street re-paving projects. Details, such as what tax hike may be required to pay off the bonds, are still under study.

The new gas ordinance stems from council members' alarm over one former customer who decided to switch to propane gas rather than use the city's natural gas service. Officials said they feared other residents and business owners might follow suit, eroding the profits that the city makes from its system.

Concern over that possibility was so high that council members pondered declaring an "emergency" situation, which would have put the new rules into effect immediately.

"We stand to lose a ton of money," said Ward 2 council member Jim Thriffley, president of council.

Council members also briefly considered putting a moratorium on propane gas conversions, covering the situation until the ordinance otherwise goes into effect: 30 days.

Since there were questions about the legal justification for declaring an emergency or a moratorium, council agreed to take the normal course and let the new law take effect in 30 days.

It will require that properties which use gas hook into the city's natural gas system. It has a grandfather clause for properties that were served by propane gas before the city's natural gas service was available.

The city has similar laws on the books requiring connections to the city's water and sewer services.

In the bond issue matter, Mayor Eddie Favre won approval of an important may be required to pay off the bonds.

In other business Tuesday, council agreed the city should consider revising a code rule that deals with multiple adjoining lots owned by a single person. Such contiguous lots now are considered as one property, and have to be subdivided if carved up for sale.

'City Council takes another step towards issuing up to $2 million in general obligation bonds for street re-paving projects'

preliminary resolution stating that there has been no formal protest lodged by the public that could have sparked a referendum.

Several more resolutions are required in coming weeks, if the city decides to proceed with the bond sale. Meanwhile, city crews have come up with a preliminary list of streets that would be resurfaced in the program.

Officials are expected to produce a prioritized list, for council's study. In addition to an extensive street resurfacing program, the issue would pay for associated drainage work, officials said. If there's money left over, officials want to apply it to other capital projects, including sidewalk construction and an upgrade of the city's water system.

All or parts of some 40 city streets are expected to be on the final list. While officials hope to avoid it, a four- to six-mill tax hike

Sometimes, however, owners run into trouble trying to meet the code's front footage regulations when making new lots out of the adjoining properties.

In one such case decided Tuesday, council overrode the Planning and Zoning Commission's refusal to approve a request from a Cedar Point property owner. Trying to sell a house on one of three former lots, the owner wanted to create lots that have less than the 100-foot frontage the city code requires.

At-large council member Bill Taylor said the P&Z position in denying the request was correct, because the commission was adhering to the city's regulations. Still, Taylor said, "common sense" in this case would allow for an exception.

Council voted 4-0 to approve the request. Ward 2 council member Jim Thriffley abstained without comment.

In other matters, council: • Praised city police Sgt. Paul Cox Jr. for winning a series of awards with the municipal K-9, DAR. The city will host a national K-9 competency competition next year.

While DAR was lauded for his outstanding performance, the dog remained in Cox's police car outside council's meeting.

• Agreed to apply for a $24,250 public safety grant that would pay for new traffic radar and DUI testing equipment, barricades and reflective cones. Favre said all but two of the city's radar guns are broken and not worth the cost of repair. Meanwhile, city ticket writing has suffered, he said.

• Agreed to apply for $19,280 in federal Homeland Security funds. The money, and a $6,400 match by the city, would pay for police salary overtime costs. Favre said the expenses include increased surveillance and patrolling in the city.

• Took no action on a letter from the city of Waveland requesting Bay St. Louis to more than double its contribution to the Waveland Animal Shelter. The Bay appropriated $18,000 for the shelter this year. Waveland contends the city should boost that to $41,000 next year, to cover its fair share of shelter expenses.

• Likewise, Hancock County should boost its $68,000 shelter appropriation by $23,000, Waveland officials said.

• Waveland operates the shelter with its own appropriations of some $39,600, and contributions from the county and the Bay.

Bay leaders plan to save Ward 3's seat

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Staff Writer

Bay St. Louis city leaders want to protect existing ward lines rather than redraw them. That would lock into place the only black majority seat on City Council.

On the recommendation of Mayor Eddie Favre, council voted Tuesday to ask the Justice Department's permission to leave the boundaries of the city's four wards alone, despite wide population variances that the 2000 Census found in them.

Some 80 percent of Bay St. Louis' 8,000 residents are white, while 16.5 percent is black. With 906 black residents and 588 whites, Ward 3 is the only political subdivision in the city with a black majority.

Ward 3's council member, Tom Farve, is the only black on a four-man council.

The problem isn't just the black-white breakdown in any ward, however. All four wards should have approximately the same number of residents, to meet federal one-man, one-vote standards.

The "ideal" number in each ward is 2,052, city officials say. Ward 3's total population was counted at 1,553, officials said, or about 24 percent below the correct number. Adjacent Ward 4, meanwhile, has almost 19 percent more residents than the ideal number.

That means Ward 3 needs another 500 residents, while Ward 4 has 388 too many, city calculations show. Ward 1 also is out-of-whack with 270 more residents than it needs. Ward 2, meanwhile, has 160 fewer than it should have.

But Mayor Favre there's almost no chance that the city could redraw Ward 3's lines to equalize it, without evaporating its standing as a black majority ward. In one scenario of re-mapping, the ward's black population would slip to a very tenuous majority. In other re-mapping plans to boost the total number of residents, the black majority would disappear altogether, the mayor said.

Favre said the Justice Department might value the idea of having a black ward so much that it will allow the hefty population discrepancies involved. To bolster that argument, city officials plan to gather letters or petitions from the NAACP, black churches and other community organizations, Favre said.

With municipal elections about two years away, Favre said the city would have time to go back to the drawing board, if federal officials insist on a redistricting plan. "If they kick it out, so be it," said the mayor.

Council members said Justice approval of the state Senate's new district boundaries might be a good omen. One district that won approval meanders wildly across the state.

There was almost no discussion of the mayor's position on the local ward line situation Tuesday. "It looks like your idea is a good idea," said Ward 2 Council member Jim Thriffley, serving as president of council.

Council member Farve made the motion to approve the mayor's approach, seconded by Ward 4 council member Bobby Compretta. It was approved unanimously.

Ansley Heron Bay Assoc. hosts sale

A big yard sale is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, sponsored by the Ansley Heron Bay Civic Association. It is to be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and 8 a.m. to noon on Sunday at the LaFrance Marina.

The Ansley Heron Bay Civic Association is one of the most active associations in the county.

The group has many community functions, several of which are road cleanups in their community.

The cleanup last Saturday, and the work of all the volunteers really shows what can be done by folks working together.

A big event coming July 18, 19, and 20, in which the general public can participate, is the Lydell Hickey Crooks, 3rd Annual Fishing Rodeo. John Milhet is the weigh master.

For further information call, Milhet at 466-2503; Mike Gremillion, 466-0378; Wally Ramage, 467-9180; or, Nancy Cohorn, 467-3174. Registration for the three-day fishing rodeo is $15 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under.

The headquarters for the fishing rodeo will be La France Marina.

It is interesting in making personal observations about litter in our community.

A case in point is the two Bay St. Louis ball fields.

The fields at the multiplex, and there are many fields off Athletic Drive in Bay St. Louis is primarily used by boys.

The girls in Fast Pitch play at the McDonald Field which contains two playing fields on Carroll, Dunbar and Ullman Avenues.

Since, I have observed this over the years, it appears that girls are sloppier than boys.

Girls, or their parents, coaches may not realize it, but they leave far too much litter behind when they use the McDonald Field, much more than is found at the boys playing field.

Litter is a big problem in our area, and something really needs to be done to eliminate it.

If everyone would do their share, there would be no litter to blight our community.

Fordice was 'worst governor' writer covered

I'm crestfallen to learn that Kirk Fordice doesn't love me. That's easy to deduce from the quote Fordice gave Clarion-Ledger star reporter Jerry Mitchell for a piece about my long Mississippi journalistic carrier.

Good old Kirk, we sure miss him. I used to say John Bell Williams was the worst governor I ever covered, until Kirk came along.

The two of them seemed to have something in common: They set out to punish the people of Mississippi for putting them in the office.

John Bell's anger was a perceived betrayal when the Democrats in Congress yanked his 20 years of Democratic seniority away from him because he publicly supported Republican Barry Goldwater for president in 1964 and not Lyndon Johnson.

So he came back to Mississippi and g o t Mississippians to elect him governor on the Democratic ticket. Then he proceeded for four years to heckle the National Democratic Party and turn down badly needed federal funds allotted to the state under LBJ's War on Poverty programs.

Fordice, noted for having been a bare-knuckled CEO of his Vicksburg contracting company who had never held public office, with his blunt manner and Reaganesque anti-government rhetoric, somehow caught a wave of public discontent with then-Gov. Ray Mabus in 1991 and became the state's first Republican governor in a century.

But he found governing like a Chief Executive Officer with dutiful underlings wasn't exactly how the political system works.

With Mississippi's Republican trend still running strong, in 1995 Fordice won reelection even with palpable evidence, usually anathema in this Bible Belt state, that he was headed for a bust-up with his wife over the rekindling of a romance with his boyhood sweetheart.

By the time Fordice left office in 2000, he had offended practically every group of citizens ranging from the black community to the Jewish community, and making a mockery of his marriage by flying off to Europe on a state economic development trip with his school sweetheart and getting caught by a newsman's camera when he returned.

Mississippi's first modern-day taste of a Republican administration in Jackson evidently didn't sit too well.

Mike Parker, who gave up his seat in Congress to come down to keep the governor's office in Republican hands, ing F-15 Strike Eagles at Lackenheath Air Base in England.

We grieve especially for those who have given the ultimate sacrifice. We will always remember the young Marine officer from Harrison County, Shane Childers, and the two Army warriors, Henry Brown of Natchez and Larry Brown of Jackson, who met their final fates on the soil of Iraq.

In Mississippi, we have an estimated 250,497 military veterans living among us. And since the time of the Revolutionary War - when America became a free country - 33,446 Mississippians have given their lives on battlefields across this world for their fellow Americans.

This breaks down to 27,500 in the Civil War, 704 in World War I, 4,187 in World War II, 409 in Korea, 638 in Vietnam, five in the first Persian Gulf arena and three this year.

This country asked our heroes to serve and defend the values we all believe in, and they came through with honor. They didn't run away to Canada. They didn't couldn't turn the trick in 1999 despite having a big war chest and a lead in pre-election polls.

Since, Parker has disappeared off the political radar screen, and so has Fordice, neither of whom has been publicly embraced by the new Republican hopeful.

Former Yazoo City lawyer Haley Barbour, who has spent the last 20 years in Washington in high GOP jobs and making millions as a top lobbyist will be the standard bearer as the main GOP hope to reclaim the state's governorship.

Barbour comes down to his onetime Mississippi haunts with more money to spend on a political campaign than has ever been imagined in the this state's political history.

Mentioned is a figure of $10 million the Barbour forces have budgeted, a sum that would be more than spent by all candidates in 1999.

Barbour, 56, will have to ask Mississippians to accept him as the leader of 2.8 million people entirely on faith, because he has no experience in governing, and some of his comments so far indicate he virtually knows nothing about how state government here has functioned the last 20 years.

More than not knowing the workings of government, Barbour seems to have a cavalier attitude toward Mississippi's most sensitive problems, such as early childhood education and social welfare.

His remark at a church event in DeSoto County that many children in a Head Start school "would be better off sitting on a piano stool in a whorehouse" was so unconscionable as to send up a red flag that Barbour is totally insensitive to the vital role Head Start has played for 40 years in reaching many thousands of children at the lowest economic level of this historically poor state.

I shall never forget years ago a wonderful Catholic sister at Canton who helped establish a Head Start program there telling me of her joy to see many children who came to the school learning such basics as how to use a knife and fork or a flush toilet.

Even before Barbour's "whorehouse" comment, he had made the charge that Mississippi was spending too much money on Medicaid.

How does he know? Maybe he is not aware that one-fourth of our population is on food stamps, the highest number of any state. Or that Mississippi's per capita income has consistently stayed at the bottom of the nation.

Medicaid's director, Rica Lewis Payton, has won high marks from the Legislature, Republicans as well as Democrats, for her highly effective efforts to contain costs, curb fraud and make-do in the lean financial times the state has faced the past three years.

In a state where some 400,000 people were without any medical insurance coverage, Medicaid has served as their only lifeline to health care.

Using tobacco lawsuit settlement money, Gov. Ronnie Musgrove was able to match federal funds the state was about to lose to expand the number of children covered under CHIP (Children's Health Insurance Programs) from 7,000 to about 100,000.

Would Haley cut those 100,000 children off the rolls to reduce Medicaid spending which he says is too high?

Since Barbour has been a highly paid lobbyist for several major tobacco companies, he needs to also tell us how he would handle the $4 billion the state got from the lawsuit against Big Tobacco.

To its credit, Mississippi thus far has preserved all but a small part of the money in a health care trust fund, even while some lawmakers have drooled over spending it for other purposes.

Barbour says in his TV commercials with great emphasis that he "knows" Mississippi can do better and he is the leader to get it done.

It seems disingenuous to come back after spending the last 20 years in the heady Washington, D.C. atmosphere to lead the people of the nation's poorest state out of the backwoods without any time laboring in the vineyard down here to find out what ails us.

shirk their duty to God and country. They were called and they went, and many of them did not come home alive.

The millions of Americans who have served are both extraordinary and ordinary, and it is both of these qualities that grab our attention today. Their commitment, courage and quiet patriotism are meaningful to us all. In times of peace as well as in times of war, our service men and women accept a responsibility that goes far beyond the scope of their individual lives.

Yet they also are sons and daughters, moms and dads, loved ones, neighbors and friends: We are eternally grateful for those who gave up so much of their lives for the freedoms so cherished in our country. We are grateful to their families and others who shared the many sacrifices that such service entails.

Let us recognize the enduring challenges and special needs that result from military service. Let us remember the ultimate sacrifice made by so many. And, in their honor, let us affirm our own utmost commitment to the principles our service women and men uphold.

I want you to know that I am proud to be a member of a Mississippi Legislature that has seen fit in recent years to operate four nursing homes for our veterans. They are located in Jackson, Collins, Kosciusko and Oxford. To me, this is one of the greatest pieces of legislation ever passed at the State Capitol.

We also operate what amounts to our own state-run mortgage company to ensure that eligible veterans are able to purchase the homes they and their families deserve. I would urge any veteran seeking to become a homeowner to get in touch with the Mississippi Veterans Home Purchase Board located in Pearl.

Your Mississippi Legislature is very concerned that our veterans are treated with the respect they deserve. I am also happy to note that a memorial to Mississippi veterans has been constructed at the Woolfolk State Office Building just across the street from the State Capitol. Please visit this site whenever you are in Jackson.

Again let me say how much I appreciate the service of the thousands of Mississippians who have served this great country. Let us never forget.

Right-of-ways still a problem, resident says

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Right-of-ways are still an issue on South Beach Boulevard, Vic Ames complained to supervisors on Monday.

And, there are still barriers to public use of those right of ways, he said. With parking along the beach at a minimum, Ames said, officials should take a firmer stand with property owners who are still leaving up barriers in public right of ways.

If there are fences or posts preventing parking then the property should be considered private and the county should not keep up those areas, said Ames. District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman said that county workers do not go into fenced areas to maintain property and that fenced areas are considered to be private property.

"I want to make it clear that County workers do not maintain private property," he said.

Ames said he wanted the barriers removed in the right of ways. Board attorney Ronnie Artigues said that if property owners can refuse to remove remaining right of way barriers and may choose protest forced removal by taking the issue to court.

In other business: Norma Fucish appeared before the board to ask for an addition to the covered area at the farmer's market held each Wednesday and Saturday mornings behind the Hancock County Civic Center, new restroom facilities at the site and a cleanup at the area. She also asked Supervisors to help plan a better parking arrangement at the site. The current arrangement is dangerous on busy days, she said. Fucish said that the market has about $7,000 in the bank from fees collected from vendors to help with the cost.

Pullman asked Supervisors to send a request to MDOT asking for their help in repairing the road at the Pearlington cutoff off Hwy. 90 and on into Pearlington. Pullman said the condition of the road had deteriorated to the point of being a major problem for the county.

District 3 Supervisor Lisa Cowand said she thinks that the county needs to come up with a consistent policy on property clean-ups on private property. Apparently some people are using their property as a dump for junk cars and other trash.

Lockheed Martin turned in a request for property tax exemption on their new installation at Stennis Space Center. The company would still pay school taxes said Chancery Clerk Tim Kellar.

Supervisors OK'd a new sound system for the Hancock County Equine Facility and Livestock Arena. The system will cost $8,800.

Cajun Fiddler

Fiddler virtuoso Amanda Shaw (right) from Mandeville, La., admires Charles B. Murphy librarian Jeanne Brooks' dog, Bubba, prior to singlog and playing fiddle on her song entitled "Little Black Dog."

Twelve-year-old Cajun fiddler Amanda Shaw recently served up a musical melody of toetapping rhythms at Charles B. Murphy Elementary in Pearlington.

Shaw began playing music at the age of four and has been seen on the Rosie O'Donnell Show, at the New Orleans jazz Fest, and has played in concert with singer Cyndi Lauper.

During her visit with the students in grades K-5, Shaw sang and played numerous musical tunes and explained information about the fiddle.

Shaw's visit was part of the schools celebration for being selected as the Mississippi Small School Site Winner for the 2003 Reading is Fundamental Community Reading Challenge. This musical lesson was made possible through the district's School-to-Careers grant program that encourages career awareness, experience, and exploration.

56th session of Magnolia Girls State to convene at Southern Mississippi

More than 400 rising high school seniors will get a hands-on education in government and politics June 7-13 as they convene on the Coast for the 56th session of the Magnolia Girls State.

Participants will hold political conventions, elections, mock trials and city projects for the fictitious state of "Magnolia" during their weeklong stay at The University of Southern Mississippi.

Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Girls State allows delegates to experience the inner workings of politics on the state and local levels. The program is designed to educate young women in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of good citizenship.

Director Kathy Dungan of Wesson said: "We hope the girls learn a little about government and how to be responsible citizens. Because they are our future, we hope this learning-by-doing approach will give them some insights."

Dungan and a staff of 15 senior counselors, 35 junior counselors and 10 additional volunteer staff members will oversee the week's events.

When the Girls State participants step on campus, they are registered as members of either the Federalist or Nationalist party and are immersed in an atmosphere of politics, with campaigns, elections, party caucuses and rallies. Delegates will reside in Southern Miss residence halls, with each floor forming a fictitious city. In all, 15 cities will be grouped into five counties and the entire delegation will make up the fictitious state of Magnolia.

In addition to political activities, the girls will participate in a talent show, glee club, exercise program and yearbook production. Several of the state's top elected officials, including Lt. Gov. Amy Tuck, will speak to the participants. The American Legion Auxiliary and Southern Miss together will award more than $8,000 in scholarships to qualified candidates, and activities will conclude with graduation ceremonies on Friday, June 13.

During the session, two delegates will be selected to represent Mississippi during the American Legion Auxiliary's Girls Nation, to be held later this summer in Washington, D.C.

For more information about the 56th session of Girls State, contact the state's American Legion Auxiliary at (601) 353-3681.

Shrimp season opens June 10

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) has approved the opening of shrimp season in Mississippi waters for Tuesday, June 10, 2003, at 6 a.m. This action is being taken following four weeks of intensive shrimp sampling in Mississippi waters.

The legal minimum size for shrimp in Mississippi is 68 shrimp per pound. This minimum average size is used as a standard for determining the opening date. Certain areas may be closed to shrimp activity if sampling indicates that a large number of small shrimp have moved into a particular area.

All regulations set forth in ordinances of the DMR are to be in full force and effect, and all boats engaged in catching or transporting shrimp in or from the waters of Mississippi must be legally licensed.

The Mississippi

Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the State by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes. Visit the DMR online at www.dmr.state.ms.us.

Even as city officials were staggering from Tuesday's news of the plant's upcoming closure, phone calls flew in pursuit of a new tenant for the Railroad Avenue property. Meetings among plant officials, state Unemployment Security Commission officials and city administrative personnel were in the making to help the soon-to-be jobless workforce.

"It's a sad day for Bay St. Louis," Mayor Eddie Favre said. He had gotten advance word of the shutdown earlier in the day at a hastily arranged 8 a.m. meeting at the plant.

He said plans to close Alcan had come about "very quickly and quietly."

Favre said he pressed Alcan for any ideas on how the city could help avert the plant closure, to no avail. "Absolutely nothing," he was told. "There's no salvaging it."

Alcan was the city's biggest gas system customer last year, paying a $84,500 tab during 2002. Subtracting the city's cost for the service, Alcan's revenues netted the city between $30,000 and $40,000, the mayor said.

Personal property taxes on some $8.7 million worth of factory equipment also are substantial. Assessed at $2.5 million, that amounts to another $30,000 or $40,000 revenue loss to the city.

The mayor said there was no immediate information available on the salary losses the 117 employees will face. But that impacts city commerce and city sales tax revenues as well. He pledged city efforts to help the newly unemployed, to the extent possible.

City leaders were talking with Port and Harbor Commission officials, the mayor said, concerning the plant's future.

At least one Port Bienville industry will be hurt with Alcan's departure, the mayor said, because it manufactures the huge spools that Alcan used to coil its aluminum wiring.

Favre said city staff already has launched inquiries about possible new tenants for the plant, and contacted one prospect that showed substantial interest.

"We don't want a smoke-house industry" to replace Alcan, said Favre. Still, finding a retail outlet as a new tenant would be difficult, he said. "If there was a miracle...If I could find a retail outlet, that would be a dream come true."

Favre said the city sold land to Alcan years ago and issued industrial revenue bonds to pay for the plant's construction.

Over the years, Alcan repaid the bond issue. The mayor said he asking Alcan officials to consider deeding property title back to the city.

The mayor said Alcan reported a 27 percent loss in business recently, and has enough inventories on hand to meet sales expected through 2007. The plant's configuration, he said, isn't flexible enough to justify Alcan's use for other purposes.

at Alcan, conducted a press conference Tuesday.

"This decision is not a reflection on the Bay St. Louis employees," she said. Persico said the Bay St. Louis facility was chosen because its line can be absorbed by Alcan's other facilities.

In order to help its Bay St. Louis employees adjust, Persico said Alcan has established a severance program and an on-site outplacement center.

She said the company will also offer a limited number of job opportunities within its other facilities.

Counselors arrived Tuesday to begin the process of helping the 116 employees through this transition. Of the 116 employees, 92 are on hourly pay and 24 are on salary. The average labor wage, Persico said, is approximately $16 an hour, not including benefits.

Persico said Alcan will offer employees a 10-hour class, which provides training in resume development, job seeking, financial planning and interviewing.

The classes will be broken up into two-hour classes per shift per week. There are four 12-hour shifts at the Bay St. Louis facility.

Persico said Alcan has postponed production this week until Friday to help accommodate time for the counselors.

Alcan Cable, which is based in Atlanta, Ga., is a division of Alcan Aluminum Corporation.

Moran -- pleads guilty

"I paid myself ahead with the intent of repaying it after my divorce was settled," Moran said. "It began to snowball. I realize that was no excuse."

Moran, 46, became the chamber's executive director in April 2000, stepping down as a Bay St. Louis City Council member and loan officer at Union Planters Bank to take the position.

The chamber officially accepted her resignation in early January 2002, although she said in e-mails to Echo Publisher Randy Ponder that she had resigned the position in November 2001.

A Hancock County Grand Jury indicted Moran on seven counts of embezzlement in April of this year. Shortly after the Moran was indicted, she turned herself in at the Hancock County Justice Facility, but was immediately released on a $10,000 bond.

According to the indictment, grand jurors determined there was enough evidence to try Moran on seven separate counts for events from May 2000 to December 2001 in which she allegedly "did willfully, unlawfully and feloniously embezzle and fraudulently secrete, conceal and convert to her own use" funds which "had been entrusted to (her) care and possession ... by virtue of her employment" as chamber director.

The indictment does not reveal the amount of funds Moran, 46, is accused of embezzling. Each count merely says "more than $250," the minimum amount necessary for a crime to qualify as a felony offense.

Assistant District Attorney Chris Schmidt on Monday told Walker that Moran had agreed to immediately repay $40,000 to the chamber, and to reimburse the state for approximately $12,000 in investigative costs.

Schmidt said that in some instances, Moran fabricated expenses for trips and meetings she never attended. Although Moran initially told Walker she took only around $60,000, Schmidt said the figure was actually in excess of $80,000. Walker asked Moran if she agreed to the figure. She did.

Schmidt recommended that Moran receive a 10-year prison sentence that would be suspended if she pays back all of the money by the end of a five-year probationary period.

Moran could have faced a $1,000 fine and up to 10 years in prison on each of the seven counts of the indictment.

Walker set another hearing for next Tuesday to determine Moran's sentence, but ordered an investigation to take place before sentencing to see if she could qualify for an electronically-monitored house-arrest supervision program.

recognition, as someone had piled debris on the body, apparently poured diesel fuel on the debris and set one fire, according to Barber's initial report.

On Wednesday Interim Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt said, "We are still looking for a woman in the age range of 35-45 who is missing. We have had several women reported as missing, but none have panned out thus far."

"The woman is a white female, 5'2" or 5'3", 100 to 130 pounds, strong in her legs from walking, or worked on her feet all the time, had an old injury to left jaw, and had extensive dental work, as her teeth were in excellent shape," Hurt added.

The sheriff's investigative team is also checking for a possible suspect in the murder, with Investigator Rita Blaize-Watson, the lead investigator, Hurt said.

"The skeleton of the victim has been sent to Louisiana to see if a face can be enhanced to aide in identifying the victim,"

Hurt reported.

The burned body appeared to have been at the location found about one week in the buffer zone about three miles from the North gate of the test site. The body was found by a member of a family which was out target shooting, Garber had reported.

Hurt urges anyone who may have any type of information on the victim's identity, or a suspect, to please call the sheriff's office at 228-467-5101, or 601-798-8555.

HMC to participate in disaster drill

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Hancock Medical Center will participate in a major Homeland Security National Disaster Medical System exercise June 10-11. This is the first tri-state test of the Keeler Federal Coordinating Center with maximum NDMS partner participation and will include many agencies from coastal Mississippi, Alabama and Florida.

Among the objectives of "Lifesaver 2003" are testing three Patient Reception Areas (PRA) at Gulfport, Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., airports; working under a joint military/civilian Incident Command system; operating with two local area Disaster Medical Assistance Teams from Alabama and Florida and cross-flowing patients on C-130, Coast Guard and Army aircraft PRAs in different locations. This is the first test in the nation of two local PRA teams and three PRA operations for a wartime exercise scenario.

Hancock Medical Center participated in a weeklong multidisciplinary exercise last May in conjunction with Keeler Air Force Base and other coast hospitals.

HMC received praise from NDMS field monitors for the staff's professional and expedient handling of the mock disaster, according to Hank Wheeler, HMC Director of Facilities Services.

According to Federal Coordination Center Coordinator Master Sgt. Scott Thresher, 81st Medical Operations Squadron, "The overall goal of 'Lifesaver 2003' is to exercise the 81st Training Wing FCC managing three PRA's at the Combat Readiness Training Center at the Gulfport airport, Brookly Field in Mobile and the Pensacola airport through a joint effort between local DMATs and military FCC teams."

"The Department of Veterans Affairs will also test NDMS plans for all six FCC's in the South Central Veteran's Administration Health Care Network. In addition, we hope to help several of our NDMS partners accomplish training objectives," Thresher said.

The exercise is based on a "what if" scenario. It supposes that Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom had resulted in substantial casualties, rather than the relatively few actually sustained. Under the exercise scenario, casualties from the conflicts overwhelm the capabilities of the overseas medical facilities and traditional Department of Defense reconstitution facilities in the U.S. As a result, the president, in coordination with Departments of Health and Human Services and Homeland Security, activates the NDMS.

The NDMS, established in 1988, has never been activated for a wartime contingency operation. Operation Iraqi Freedom would have been the first use of the NDMS.

Up to 300 "wounded" patients will be processed and triaged at the PRA's and dispersed to NDMS hospitals. An Air Force Reserve Command C-130 aircraft from Keeler's 403rd Wing will transport patients among the airports to simulate patients being flown in from medical "hubs" throughout the east and southeast U.S. Army C-12 from Fort Rucker, Ala., as well as several fixed-wing aircraft and helicopters from the U.S. Coast Guard's Air Training Center in Mobile will also ferry patients among coast medical facilities.

Participants in "Lifesaver 2003" include components of the 81st Training Wing and 403rd Wing at Keeler Air Force Base; the Mississippi Air National Guard's CRTC in Gulfport; Harrison, Hancock and Jackson Counties 911; the U.S. Coast Guard's Aviation Training Center, Mobile; Fort Rucker, Ala.; Pensacola Naval Hospital, Fla.; the VA; Florida-1 DMAT, Fort Walton Beach, Fla.; Alabama-3 DMAT, Mobile; Mobile County and Baldwin County, Ala.; Emergency Management Agencies; Alabama Gulf Coast Chapter of the Red Cross, and Mobile Fire Rescue.

Ambulance and emergency medical technician support will be provided by Emergystat, American Medical Response and Acadian Ambulance Service.

In addition to Hancock Medical Center, Mississippi hospitals serving the Gulfport PRA include Keeler Medical Center, Ocean Springs and Singing River Hospitals, Biloxi Regional Medical Center, Gulf Coast Medical Center, Biloxi VA Hospital, Garden Park and Memorial Hospital at Gulfport.

According to Thresher, Southern Linc is providing radios for communication to augment existing radios based on a real-world, large-scale disaster. This will provide coverage from Defuniak Springs, Fla., to Hancock County. Raytheon is testing a patient-tracking system and furnishing technical assistance for a possible future means of tracking patients using a web-based system.

The NDMS is a federally coordinated system that augments the nation's emergency medical response capability. The overall purpose of the NDMS is to establish a single, integrated national medical response capability for assisting state and local authorities in dealing with the medical and health effects of major peacetime disasters and providing support to the military and Veterans Health Administration medical systems in caring for casualties evacuated back to the U.S. from overseas armed conflicts.

Governor, district attorneys, judges to get pay raises

BY EMILY WAGSTER
PETTUS
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — District attorneys, judges and most statewide elected officials will get pay raises in January, under a bill signed by Gov. Ronnie Musgrove.

The exception is Musgrove himself. If he is re-elected, the governor's pay will remain at $101,800. If someone else becomes governor, the position's salary will go up to $122,160.

Lawmakers inserted the exception at Musgrove's request.

Legislators approved the pay raise bill before ending their session earlier this month, and Musgrove signed it last week.

Legislators' pay will not change.

Judges will get raises, but they also will get extra duties. The state constitution bans midterm pay raises for circuit and chancery judges and Supreme Court justices. To get around the ban, legislators gave the judges extra responsibilities such as helping choose new books for the state law library.

Prosecutors said they hope salary increases will help them keep experienced assistants.

Frank Carlton said he has had a tough time keeping some assistant prosecutors on staff in his 24 years as district attorney. His district includes Washington, Leflore and Sunflower counties.

Too often, he said, they're lured away by fatter paychecks in private practice.

"We train people, they get competent and they get hired away to make the big bucks," Carlton said Monday from his Greenville office.

District attorneys' salaries will go from $79,830 to $95,796.

Assistant district attorneys' salaries are set by their bosses, but their current top pay level is $67,500. Starting next year, the assistants' pay will be based on experience.

Assistants with at least 15 years of experience will be paid 90 percent of the district attorneys, or $86,216. Those with five to 15 years on the job will be paid 85 percent, or $81,427; and those with up to five years will be paid 80 percent, or $76,637.

Claiborne "Buddy" McDonald IV, past president of the Mississippi Prosecutors Association, said since the last raises were given six years ago, 42 of the state's 89 assistant district attorneys have left their jobs.

"The problem is, there is such a drastic difference (between) what they were being paid and what they could make in the private sector," said McDonald, district attorney for Lawrence, Jefferson Davis, Marion, Lamar and Pearl River counties.

"If you were a plumber and you were making $10 an hour but another company offered to pay you $20 an hour to be a plumber, you'd go with the $20 an hour deal," McDonald said.

Carlton is among a half dozen district attorneys not seeking re-election this year. He said pay was a factor, but not the deciding one. He said he was ready to move on after two dozen years as district attorney and five as an assistant.

He said district attorneys' offices will continue to be training grounds for young lawyers before they move on to make more money.

"If you want to be a trial lawyer, you can sign on with a district attorney and you can get all the trial experience you can ever get. We probably try more cases in a year than a lot of people do in a lifetime," Carlton said. "But you've still got to feed the baby and turn on the lights and everything else."

BellSouth prepares for hurricane season

BellSouth is ready for whatever the 2003 hurricane season brings. The company has finished months of pre-hurricane planning making sure back up systems and emergency procedures are in place and operational.

"Since a hurricane can hit BellSouth territory anywhere on the Gulf Coast, we have to prepare on a wide scale basis," said Rick Stewart, BellSouth Regional Director. "We have contingency plans for every area. If a hurricane should strike, emergency procedures extending throughout BellSouth's nine-state region go into effect."

BellSouth is known as an industry leader in emergency preparedness because of its long record of effective management of its network and other resources during hurricanes, ice storms and other emergencies. Preparation this year has been in earnest since such a high number of hurricanes have been predicted for the 2003 storm season.

Stewart said that hundreds of portable generators are in warehouses throughout the Southeast on standby ready to be loaded onto tractor-trailers and transported to an area hit by a storm.

"The number one way our customers lose telephone service after a storm is when commercial power to area distribution facilities is interrupted. We have battery back up systems that can last up to 24 hours at each site," said Stewart. "Our first priority after a hurricane passes is to hook up generators to the distribution facilities that don't have power. It's the most efficient way of preventing the loss of service to the majority of our customers."

If needed, additional BellSouth technicians can also be reassigned to areas that need extensive restoration work.

"BellSouth has one of the most sophisticated communications networks in the world and its trademark is reliability. We don't know what this hurricane season has in store for us but there is one certainty; we're ready," Stewart added.

PERS seeking new board member

There will be an election during 2003 for a member of the Public Employees' Retirement System of Mississippi (PERS) Board of Trustees representing county employees. The Board adopted an election schedule during its April meeting.

The election is for a six-year term, beginning January 1, 2004. Any county employee who has been a member of the Retirement System for at least ten (10) years can qualify for the election by filing petitions signed by at least 25 county employees who are PERS members.

Notices of the election will be mailed to counties August 1. The deadline for submitting qualifying petitions to PERS at 429 Mississippi Street, Jackson, MS 39201, is 5 p.m. Tuesday, September 2. Petitions received after the deadline will be disqualified even if the postmark is prior to the deadline.

County employees desiring to be candidates should contact their personnel or human resource office after August 1 to obtain petitions.

Ballots will be mailed to counties September 16 and must be returned to PERS by 5 p.m. Friday, October 17. If no candidate receives a majority of votes cast in the first election, there will be a runoff between the top two votegetters.

Other members of the PERS Board are the State Treasurer, a gubernatorial appointee, two state employees, two (2) retirees and one representative each of public school and community colleges, Institutions of Higher Learning and municipal employees. With the exception of the State Treasurer and the gubernatorial appointee, Board members are elected to staggered six-year terms by their segment of the Retirement System.

Dana Haas, 14, of Kiln, riding her nine-year-old She's A Power Train, nicknamed Scoot, makes her final run to capture the Martha Josey Junior Barrel Race championship in Marshall, Texas last month.

Kiln girl captures Texas Junior barrel race title

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Dana Haas, 14, of Kiln, daughter of Donnie and Tammy Haas, won the 22nd Martha Josey Junior World Barrel Race last month in Marshall, Texas in the Senior Division, 14 to 20 year-old age group.

Dana is the first Mississippian ever to take the Texas Junior title.

This was the first year for the young Haas to compete in the older age group, as she has competed four previous years in the 13 and under.

In her class this year, there were 150 competitors from across the United States and Canada.

Haas is a self-taught Barrel Racer and trainer, who received her first horse at age five. She started by placing three barrels in a field and walking an untrained horse around the barrels. Then they began riding the course.

At age seven, she and her first horse, Boots, placed third in Mississippi competition for youth aged 12 and under.

She has been riding her championship horse Scoot, since its purchase five years ago. Scoot is nine-year-old quarter horse bred in Louisiana.

Dana just completed the eighth grade and is a straight 'A' student, and will enter the ninth grade at Hancock High this Fall.

Dana constantly keeps up with Barrel Race information by reading several publications on a monthly basis.

Excitement was really increased when the competition got down to the finals, and the competition narrowed down to 20 in Dana's division.

In the runs of the final competition, Dana had the fastest average time, which meant she would be the last competitor to run in the finals.

The barrel racer before her was the one to beat, as the announcer said Dana would have to run a 16.231 to take the title.

Dana and Scoot crossed the line at 16.116 to take the championship trophy saddle and prizes. Winning the championship meant $6,000 in money and prizes.

Dana and Scoot have won some $8,600 in cash and prizes since December 2002.

"It is during the last two years that Scoot and I have really began to come through and be very competitive in barrel racing," Dana said.

Over the years, Dana has entered competition across Mississippi, Louisville, KY, Memphis, TN, Texas, Louisiana and Alabama.

The Kiln Haas family spends many weekends on the road, so Dana can compete in her Barrel Racing.

During an interview by Martha Josey, following Dana's victory, her father said, "All I can say is my daughter gave 100%, as well as Scoot to achieve a five year goal, and I am very proud."

The Martha Josey Junior World Barrel Races were held May, 9, 10 & 11, and Dana already working to defending her title next year.

A dab of coleus may do, but masses are better

BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension Center

Who knows why I remember the Brylcream slogan, "A little dab'll do ya," or what the connection is in my mind to coleus? I'm thinking that a little dab of coleus may do, but the bigger the dab, the better.

Many of you have looked at coleus with that Brylcream attitude, thinking that one little coleus here or there should do just fine. This prevalent thinking means we are under-utilizing a terrific bedding plant -- one that will look showy for months. For its true potential, mass plant at least seven in a large, informal drift.

Since the early 1990s the coleus has gone from an obscure plant to one of unprecedented popularity. The colors are richer, more highly variegated, and many are now able to withstand full sun throughout the growing season.

New, vegetatively produced varieties of coleus are resistant to blooming, thereby providing non-stop, vibrant, colorful foliage from spring until frost.

Coleus prefers fertile, organic-rich, well-drained soil. Amend tight, heavy soil with 3 to 4 inches of organic matter. Till to a depth of 6 to 8 inches.

It pays to know your varieties because while some can thrive in full sun, others will need mostly shade. Some are flower-producing, but it is actually the foliage that is desired. Coleuses produced by cuttings are superior. Space plants as recommended per variety purchased.

Keep the coleus watered and mulched during the growing season. Feed with a light application of a slow-release, 12-6-6 fertilizer one month after transplanting and again in mid-summer. Too much nitrogen has been known to cause excessive greening. Pinch in mid- and late-summer to keep the plant bushy.

The coleus is a tropical plant and can certainly give a carnival-like atmosphere to the garden. Grow in the shade garden with ferns, ginger and hostas.

the Transformation of South BEACH BOULEVARD

New center works on mind, body and soul

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

Over the last two years, local residents transformed Bay St. Louis' South Beach Boulevard area into a safe, productive part of town.

They brought beauty and events to the community, which, in turn, attracted locals and visitors.

Now, some of these same people are introducing yet another addition to the community -- The Centre for Creation.

This center will house several organizations and classes that cater to improving the community and its residents.

Earth Events, a group that specializes in ecological, educational and cultural events for schools, community groups and corporations, will make the center its home.

The Nature Conservancy will also utilize this space located at 101 Washington St., which was previously Bay House Collection.

Local resident Pebbie Bird will head up this organization and its newly developed program for the conservation of the Pearl River.

"Just the presence of the Nature Conservancy and its mission is beneficial to the positive development of any community seeking healthy growth," said Colleen Read, who helped found the Centre for Creation. "Bay St. Louis is fortunate to have such an extraordinary organization root in the South Beach Community."

The center has also offered space for THE ARTS, the quickly growing arts organization in Hancock County.

Classes focusing on the mind, body and spirit will utilize a space named the Lokahi Room at the center. "Lokahi" means "in unity" or "in agreement" in Hawaiian.

Some of the classes will include yoga, Nia, Pilates, Tai Chi Chuan, meditation and belly dancing.

1983 - Hancock art show features 250 paintings

TEN YEARS AGO

May 30, 1993 - The Diamondhead Community will enjoy the convenience of a local post office beginning June 14, via two industrious businesswomen: April Clement and Brenda Smith, owners and operators of "We Can Do That Services," were awarded a contract Monday for the Diamondhead post office.

By order of the state Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the county's Standard dump cannot accept specific items. These items include, baby diapers, oil or oil cans, paint cans, household garbage, any type of chemicals, medical supplies, dead animals, fish, whole tires and treated creosote timbers. Should EPA or DEQ inspections reveal these items within landfill materials, the county could be subject to fines up to $25,000 per day.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

May 29, 1983 -- Art Under the Trees, (photo). The paintings shown at the Hancock County Art Association's show looked professional but, most of the artists have been painting a year or two and before that never picked up a brush. Carl Baldenhofer, coordinator of the show and art instructor, said, "Most of the paintings were done by senior citizens who take classes with me. Over 250 paintings are being shown," Baldenhofer said. The art was displayed on the grounds of the Hancock County Library on Saturday.

In celebration of ten years in Hancock County, the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) members enjoyed a picnic at Buccaneer State Park on Friday. Those providing the music were Ken Williams and Bert Courge. All types of games including hat decorating contests and hot dogs, fried chicken and refreshments were enjoyed by approximately 200 persons attending.

FORTY YEARS AGO

May 30, 1963 - Lana Taylor, Hancock County's princess in the Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo at Gulfport this summer, received a $100 check from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to assist her wardrobe for the festivities. Making the presentation was R.G. (Manny) Hubbard, Jr., board of supervisor president.

Summer Reading Program Special Event: Take me to the beach

This summer, the Pass Christian will be sponsoring a summer reading program with the theme "Books Ahoy!". Registration began May 27 and continues through June 16. Children who register for the program keep track of the books they read on their own personal reading record, become eligible for prize drawings and will receive a certificate at the completion of the program on July 24. Numerous free program and activities have been planned and everyone is invited to attend.

The first Special Event for the Pass Christian Public Library's "Books Ahoy!" Summer Reading Program is "Take Me To The Beach". Special guest speaker is Jennifer Buchanan with the Department of Marine Resources. At 10:30 am., Ms. Buchanan will do a special Storytime for children 7 and under in the children's wing of the library.

At 1:00 p.m., Ms. Buchanan will take children 6-12 years old to the beach west of the Pass Christian Small Craft Harbor to study marine life and estuaries. We will meet at the library and walk to the beach. Children are invited to bring dip nets, sand buckets, plastic 'bug houses' or plastic containers with them. We will need parents or guardians to sign a permission slip or accompany their children for this program. All children ages 6-12 are welcome to join us for this fun and informative event.

Los Tres Amigos

We at Los Tres Amigos recently celebrated our eighth year as part of the growing Bay St. Louis community. We have come to know and appreciate all of our customers. From families that come every Sunday to the local businessmen who not only bring their employees several times a week but also their families. From the quiet couples who like to enjoy our Thursday Margarita Night to the working men who like to come and have an ice cold beer and a sizzling steak. From the patrons who come from around the block to the couples who come from Bogalusa, New Orleans, Picayune and Slidell simply to have lunch or dinner with us. We believe in helping our local community and economy so we often run different specials for our local businesses that in turn give us tremendous support as well. We have a menagerie of loyal patrons whom we revere and look forward to seeing every week.

While rejuvenating our local location in the past few and upcoming months we are also expanding to at least two new locations in the approaching month or two. Our customers can look forward to enjoying our festive, Los Tres Amigos experience in Slidell on Gause Blvd. in the old Bimini Bay building and a new location in Gulfport on Hwy 49 in the old Shoney's across from Super Wal-Mart as well.

From our family to yours, come taste a bit of Mexico and try one of our 20 New Mexican dishes, a tasty beverage or some savory dessert.

Bay St. Louis Athletic Complex to receive new electronic scoreboard

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Part of the fun of youth baseball is the fantasy of being just like big leaguers. That fantasy may feel a little more real this season at the Bay St. Louis Athletic Complex thanks to a new electronic scoreboard to be installed in May. The scoreboard is a gift of the Treutel Insurance Agency and Safeco Corporation's "PlayBall" program.

In partnership with local insurance agents and financial advisors, Safeco is contributing $1 million over two years to install scoreboards at 62 youth baseball fields across the country - 32 in 2002 and 30 more in 2003. The PlayBall contribution is part of Safeco's ongoing Strengthening America's Neighborhoods program.

"We're thrilled to be able to help improve the Bay St. Louis Athletic Complex," said David Treutel, Jr. - Treutel Insurance Agency, and we're proud to have a company partner like Safeco that values community spirit."

Bay St. Louis Athletic Complex was chosen for this special donation through a competitive process where independent agents and financial advisors sors like Dave Treutel nominate baseball or softball fields in their community who might benefit from a new scoreboard. Scoreboards around the country will be installed throughout the spring and summer.

"PlayBall is one way of supporting the neighborhoods we serve through our network of independent agents and financial advisors like Dave Treutel of Treutel Insurance Agency," said Mike McGavick, Safeco, president and CEO. "PlayBall is a great way to honor our agents and advisors and the neighborhoods they care about."

"We're contributing scoreboards because baseball helps bring people together," McGavick continued. "Parents, neighbors, business owners and elected officials cheer from the bleachers of their local ball park. It's this sense of community that makes great neighborhoods."

The Bay St. Louis Athletic Complex scoreboard will be officially dedicated by Mayor Edward Favre, Treutel and Safeco officials on Saturday, June 7th, at 10:00 a.m. during a family celebration that includes free hotdogs, balloons, clowns, and raffle prizes. The event is free and open to the public.

Treutel Insurance Agency is a third generation, Bay St. Louis-based, family business that has served the insurance and investments needs of the Mississippi Gulf Coast community since 1925. Along with its sponsorship of youth softball, soccer, football and baseball teams, the Treutel Insurance Agency has been a proud supporter of area non profits including the United Way of South Mississippi, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, the Hancock Medical Center Foundation, Kids Voting and the Gulf Coast Community Foundation. For six years, the Independent Insurance Agents & Brokers of America has honored the Treutel Insurance Agency as being a "Best Practices Agency" and "one of the leading insurance agencies in the United States". Owner, David Treutel Jr. is the former president of the Independent Insurance

Agents of Mississippi, Partners for Stennis Space Center, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis and the United Way of South Mississippi. Angelyn Treutel, CPA, currently represents the insurance agency on the state insurance association's Executive Committee as Technology Chair and on the national insurance association's Agent Council for Technology.

Safeco's Strengthening America's Neighborhoods program has successfully supported other community gathering places around the country, including neighborhood pocket parks, the Jackson Street Center in Seattle, Wash., and the Trinity Street Center in Decatur, Ga.

Baseball is now a part of Safeco's national identity through Safeco Field. Every year, the company works with the Seattle Mariners on many community programs that help bring people together, PlayBall builds on that heritage.

Safeco, in business since 1923, is a Fortune 500 company based in Seattle that sells insurance and related financial products through more than 17,000 independent agents and financial advisors.

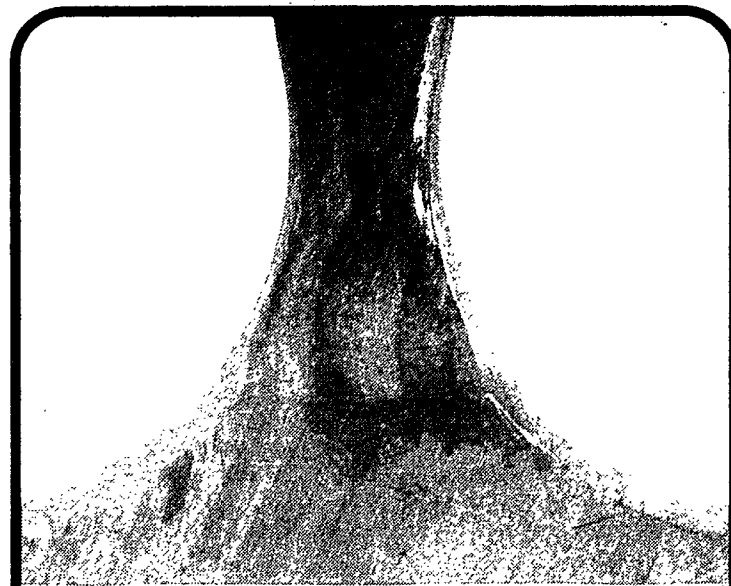

More information about Safeco is available online at www.safeco.com. Information on Treutel Insurance Agency can be found on its Web site at www.treutel.com.

Kiln child to visit Mickey Mouse

Make-A-Wish Foundation grants dream for 4-year-old boy with rare blood disorder to visit Disney World this weekend

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Four-year-old Jesse Perrault from Kiln and his family will depart on Saturday, June 7, for his dream destination — Disney World.

Jesse, who suffers from a rare blood disorder called Von Willebrand's Disease, is having his wish granted by the Make-A-Wish Foundation® of Mississippi and wish sponsor, The Brett Favre Foundation. He will be treated to an exciting adventure at Disney World and have the opportunity to meet Mickey and Minnie and all of the other wonderful Disney characters.

On Wednesday, Jesse enjoyed a wish party at Chuck E. Cheese in Gulfport. At his party, Jesse celebrated his wish coming true with friends and family. Make-A-Wish Foundation Gulf Coast coordinator Shellie Moses presented Jesse with the itinerary, expense money and special gifts for his trip.

Jesse's wish is being sponsored by The Brett Favre Foundation. The foundation holds a celebrity golf tournament and concert each spring to benefit different charities in Mississippi. Make-A-Wish received $15,000 from last year's event to be used to grant wishes for children like Jesse.

Jesse and his family will begin driving, headed to the Magic Kingdom on Saturday.

The little boy, along with his parents, big brother and big sister, Will spend six nights and seven days enjoying the Disney parks and Universal Studios.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation® of Mississippi is a non-profit organization that grants wishes to children who suffer from life-threatening medical conditions to enrich the human experience with hope, strength and joy. Last year, the Mississippi chapter made wishes come true for over 100 children. The Make-A-Wish Foundation® of Mississippi is part of the Make-A-Wish Foundation® of America, the country's largest wish-granting organization.

THE ARTS: Artist Profile Workshop

Harrison Miner will conduct an artist profile workshop at 6 p.m. on today at the Bay St. Louis Library.

The artist profile project is a unique feature offered by THE ARTS to its members.

Basically, the artist profile is a one-page description of the artist consisting of two photographs and 200 to 300 words of text. Miner has designed a template so that all the pages have a similar format.

The artist profiles will serve two functions. They will be used in an artists directory at the library and will also be available on THE ARTS web site.

This not only provides a central resource for information on individual artists in Hancock County but also provides artists with a unique opportunity to have their work on the web if they do not have a web site. For those who do have a web site, linking to this will provide even greater exposure.

The artist profiles are not limited to just visual artists. Writers, musicians, performing artists, artisans and art groups can utilize this opportunity to promote their work. Copyrights can be included where applicable.

Inclusion in the artist profiles is limited to members of THE ARTS. Membership applications will be available at the workshop on Thursday for those wishing to sign up.

For more information about the artist profiles contact Harrison Miner at 228-467-0074 or hminer@bellsouth.net.

Artist deadline set for Art in the Park

For the 10th year, the Collage ART in the PARK will be held free to the public in tree-shaded War Memorial Park near downtown Pass Christian. Thousands are expected to attend this year's nonprofit festival set for Sept. 27-28.

Participating artists must register no later than Aug. 15, with a nonrefundable registration fee of $65 payable in full by Aug. 1, or $80 thereafter. Registration must be accompanied by nonreturnable photographs of each artist's work.

Artist spaces measure 12 feet by 12 feet, and artists are responsible for the construction of their booth or display area and must maintain its appearance. All booths must be kept open during the festival hours of 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

"The Gulf Coast boasts a variety of skilled artists who participate in the festival each year," said this year's chairman, Kathie Short, "but artists also travel to ART in the PARK from distant states. We are seeking more exhibitors with fresh, original artwork that the public will enjoy and purchase. Last year, our festival grew to over 70 art exhibitors, and tempting choices of food and drinks."

The two-day event also includes a silent auction of donated works by participating artists and live music by local popular Coast entertainer Bobby Allison. A Marine Education Festival is also held in the nearby harbor on Sept. 27.

Sponsors are Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce, the city of Pass Christian and the Harrison County Board of Supervisors.

For details, call Wilma Rizzardi at (228) 452-2252; e-mail pccoc@datasync.net; www.passchristian.org/collage.

Creation

"I'm most excited that this space is a community center," said Sally Weber, who will serve as the yoga instructor. "It will bring people together."

Charlene Comstock-Galagan will head up the Nia classes.

According to the Nia website, www.nia-nia.com, "In any Nia class, the foremost purpose is to reach for the joy of movement. Combining carefully selected movements and concepts from yoga, Tai Chi, Tae Kwon Do, jazz, modern dance and other movement forms, Nia offers a non-impact total body cardiovascular conditioning for people of any level of fitness and agility."

Susan LaBrecque will instruct Pilates, which is "compiled of 34 fundamental stretching, strengthening and breathing exercises that allows one to tone and lose inches in a non-stressful low impact routine."

"The center fits perfectly with Tai Chi Chuan," said Cyrus Rhode, who will teach this form of exercise. "Tai Chi Chuan focuses on your center, which is what the Centre for Creation encourages for the whole community."

Diane Stevenson will instruct participants in meditation while Shawn Prychitko will teach belly dancing.

"This center offers a whole new scope on ways to find relaxation," said Prychitko, who is also known as Xenia Hurrem. "I think the location near the beach is also very positive."

"All aspects of the being — the mind, body and spirit — are addressed with these classes," said Cie McMullin, who will serve as the opera-

Gardening

Use in the tropical garden in front of bananas and elephant ears.

Use bright red selections with bush allamanda. Try burgundy or maroon varieties with bright gold or yellow flowers, such as New Gold lantana and Indian Summer rudbeckia, or with the glistening white Shasta daisy. Most sun coleus varieties work in shade as well.

Four sun coleuses in variations of red from maroon to burgundy have been recognized as award winners in the South. Plum Parfait and Burgundy Sun were chosen as Texas Super Stars. New Orleans Red is a Louisiana Select winner, and Mississippi Summer was chosen as a Mississippi Medallion winner.

The Solar series, with several variegated selections, is truly outstanding. Solar Sunrise and Solar Eclipse are the most popular. Unique varieties like Kiwi Fern, Tilt a Whirl, Ducks Foot Red and Swiss Sunshine have now become more than novelty selections.

Relating the Brylcrearn jingle to coleus may sound wacky, but it's not nearly as crazy as planting only a "dab" of it in your landscape this summer.

Casino Magic Bay St. Louis will present a double dip of Four Tops June 6 and 7

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Four Tops will bring their special brand of harmonizing to Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Friday & Saturday, June 6 & 7 at 9 p.m. each evening.

Tickets are $14.95, $19.95, and $24.95 and are available at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5, or at any Ticketmaster location.

The Four Tops have been marveling audiences with their unique blend of pure vocal power and unparalleled harmonies since 1954. They have brought to the American people and the world a sound so singular that it is woven into the fabric of American pop music.

Hits like "Baby, I Need Your Lovin'," "I Can't Help Myself (Sugar Pie Honey Bunch)" and "Reach Out, I'll Be There" topped the charts and became anthems of a generation. The Tops were a sensation abroad as well.

At a time when the U.S. charts were dominated by the Beatles and the Rolling Stones, The Four Tops sat like kings at number one in England.

Later came more hits like "Ain't No Woman (Like the One I Got)," "Keeper of The Castle," "Are You Man Enough" and "Am I My Brothers' Keeper?" The Four Tops were stunning audiences with their live performances, sweating their soul on stage proving that their blend of emotional stage persona and unforgettable songs had launched them to the pinnacle of the entertainment world.

In the early 1980's, The Four Tops recorded two albums, showcasing such monster hits as "When She Was My Girl," "Tonight I'm Gonna Love You All Over" and "I Believe In You and Me." Later, they recorded "Indestructible" which garnered rave reviews.

In 1990, The Tops were inducted into the Rock 'n

Roll Hall of Fame, and in 1997 were honored with a star on Hollywood Boulevard, adding to their growing list of awards and accolades. Sadly, in June of 1997, one of the Tops, Lawrence Payton, died of liver cancer.

The Four Tops had 44 years together and then there were three. Originally, the three decided to go on and sing and to continue doing what they had started to do years ago - to bring joy to millions through their music. Then along came Theo Peoples (former member of The Temptations) who fit in perfectly, so once again there are Four Tops, still true to the soul, memory and performance of Payton. Generations can close their eyes, hear a Four Tops tune and it catapults them to a memory.

This group has the distinct pleasure of marking a part of American culture with their music.

Today, The Four Tops are going strong, performing to standing room only crowds all over the world, delighting old and new fans alike.

Their powerful, recognizable sweet harmonies and unforgettable voices have firmly established their status in music history as musical legends!

Don't miss the Four Tops only at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Friday & Saturday, June 6 & 7. Must be 21 to attend.

Charles B. Murphy kindergarten presents program

During the last week of school, kindergarten students at Charles B. Murphy Elementary presented a program with an American flavor and flair to students, faculty, and family. The program began with a welcome by kindergartners Laine Walker and Selby Stoufflet and participation in The Pledge of Allegiance led by Clay Doyle. Kindergarten students Nyquea Williams, Daniel Kutz, Seth Crowe, Mason Jackson, Brandon Walker, Tamera Swafford, Lorenzo Neville, Chris Gordan, and Charlie Graves each recited lines in the poem "Old Glory." The students then sang "Gold Bless America," "This is My Country," "This Land is Your Land," and "Grand Old Flag." Jarell Lee and K.C. Clendenon then presented Principal Lenette Ladner who spoke words of praise and encouragement to the kindergarten class. In closing, student Jeffrey Warden recognized kindergarten teacher Sheryl DeStarkey and assistant Marie Thornton for their hard work and dedication during the school year.

ADOPT-A-PET

Please be a responsible pet owner - spay or neuter your pets. Remember to give your pets plenty of water and a shelter to keep cool during the hot summer months and please don't leave your pets unattended in your vehicle. But most of all, give your pets lots of love and attention. After all, it is a small price to pay for all that they give you.

These pets are sponsored by the following establishments which encourage you to adopt a pet today. These pets are available for adoption at the Waveland Animal Shelter, 322 Gulfside Street, 467-0230.
